Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) OR THIRTY (30) DAYS, WHICHEVER IS LONGER, FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 1 provides for the use of ABI-5-like and Viviparous-1-like transcription factors, but, since the claim does not set forth any steps involved in the method/process, it is unclear what method/process applicant is intending to encompass. A claim is indefinite where it merely recites a use without any active, positive steps delimiting how this use is actually practiced.

Claim 1 is also indefinite in the recitation of “stress-related”. It is unclear in what way the traits are “related” to stress, as traits make be “related” to stress in more than one way, and there are insufficient limitations set forth in the claims which can be used to discern the nature of their relatedness.

Claim 1 is additionally indefinite in the recitation of “ABI-5-like” and “Viviparous-1-like”. It is unclear in what way the transcription factors are “like” ABI-5 and Viviparous-1, as proteins make be “like” one another in more than one way, and there are insufficient limitations set forth in the claims which can be used to discern the nature of their likeness.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed recitation of a use, without setting forth any steps involved in the process, results in an improper definition of a process, i.e., results in a claim which is not a proper process claim under 35 U.S.C. 101. See for example Ex parte Dunki, 153 USPQ 678 (Bd.App. 1967) and Clinical Products, Ltd. v. Brenner, 255 F. Supp. 131, 149 USPQ 475 (D.D.C. 1966).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Hobo T. et al. (A bZIP factor, TRAB1, interacts with VP1 and mediates abscisic acid-induced transcription. Proc Natl Acad Sci U S A. 1999 Dec 21;96(26):15348-53).

The claims are drawn to a method comprising regulating abscisic acid and stress inducible gene expression using ABI-5 like and Viviparous-1-like transcription factors.

Hobo T. et al. teach a method wherein abscisic acid and stress inducible gene expression is regulated in rice cultured-cell protoplasts upon transfection with polynucleotides encoding ABI-5 like and Viviparous-1-like transcription factors TRAB1 and VP1 (page 15350 Figure 3; page 15351 Figure 4). TRAB1 is like ABI-5 because it is a bZIP transcription factor. VP1 is like Viviparous-1 because it is Viviparous-1.

Remarks

No claim is allowed.
